Organic Waste Collection

Going green has never been easier

You care about the environment.
So do we.

So let us take care of your organic waste. Discarded vegetables, fruits, eggshells and coffee grounds take up space in a landfill and create planet-warming greenhouse gases.

At Sanimax, we take that resource and transform it into rich, organic compost and into biogas, which in turn can generate electricity.

It's the responsible thing to do. And the best part? We make it simple.

We can handle

- Eggshells
- Cakes, cereals, grains, breads, dough and flour
- Nuts and nutshells
- Flowers and household plants
- Sauces and dressings
- Compostable paper products: hand wipes, towels and napkins
- Prepared foods

Reliability you can count on

We'll pick up your waste as often as you need, whether that's once a day, once a week or anything in between. Our computerized routing system and fleet of more than 250 trucks means we're always there when you need us.

Best-in-industry equipment

Our odor-proof, leak-proof containers are designed specifically for organic waste and come in a range of sizes to fit your operations.

Short on space?

Ask about our unique wall chutes. As well as freeing up floor space, our chutes increase efficiency. You don't need to wheel your totes outside, and our collection trucks won't take up valuable time in your loading dock.

Just toss it

Soon, our unwrapping service will make it even easier. You won't need to remove the wrapping or packaging from your organic waste. Instead, just toss the item in the bin and we'll take care of carefully separating everything.

Leave the cleaning to us

Every time we empty your collection bins, we also rinse them using our exclusive on-truck hot-water wash system. And the wash water? We collect and transport all of it off-site.

Organic Waste Collection

About Sanimax

Our history has its roots in rendering, one of the world's oldest methods of recycling. Our growth springs from new sustainable solutions, such as organic waste collection.

Today, as a 3rd generation family-owned business and with over 1000 enterprising Sanimax employees we live and work with integrity, extending the food supply chain much farther than most people can imagine.

Each year we reclaim more than 1.2 million tons of vegetable oils, food waste and animal by-products. We take that waste, renew it and return it to the market as high-demand products.

Comprehensive training materials

Our training DVDs clearly explain the system while pictograms on every bin remind employees of what goes where.

Detailed reports

Monthly, quarterly or annual reports let you see exactly how much waste you produce, so you can assess your carbon footprint, benchmark your performance and identify opportunities for improvement.

Green credentials

Show your customers that you're an environmental leader. We provide all the documentation you need to achieve zero-waste-to-landfill certification.

One-stop shopping

Simplify your waste collection services (and save money)! Take advantage of our cooking oil collection, grease trap pumping and collection of meats and animal by-products.
