Organic Waste Collection

Enhance your environmental credentials

Make your operations more green and appealing to your eco-conscious customers. For decades, Sanimax has collected meat and animal by-products, used cooking oil, and provided grease trap pumping. Now, we’re proud to offer organic waste collection, helping you shrink your environmental footprint even further.

We make it simple

• Fruits and Vegetables
• Bakery Products
• Eggs and Solid Dairy

Segregating waste gives you a business advantage

- Separating food waste streams helps you quantify shrinkage and loss, boost inventory efficiency, cut costs, and save money.
- Separating organic waste means dumpsters fill less quickly, reducing solid waste collections.
- Diverting organic material to specially designed, locking containers reduces odour, insects, and rodent issues.

Recycling means the world to us

Each year, North America generates over 50 million tons of food waste and yet reclaims only 3% of it, while Germany recycles 97% of its food waste! There are better uses for surplus food than dumping it in landfills, where it takes up valuable space and creates planet-warming greenhouse gases.

Sanimax reclaims organic materials, renews or transforms their component parts, and returns them to the marketplace in the form of high-demand goods like biofuels, biogas, compost, animal feed, and fertilizers. It’s the responsible thing to do. And, it’s easy with help from Sanimax.
